Encircled by the River Lot, Luzech is the last stop downstream. Stroll through the medieval streets to discover its beauty and to see its 13th century dungeon, Gothic church and Romanesque church. The Consuls House hosts the Tourist Office and two museums, one about mills and the other about dinosaurs – an unusual combination! Children will be fascinated by the cast of a 60 sq. m. footprint, dating from 140 million years ago.

PARNAC

Parnac is a charming little town. The gothic Saint-Saturin church, overlooking the river, is a delight to visit and was classified as a historic monument in 1910. During the summer, the Château Saint-Didier-Parnac is open to visitors for wine tasting and to learn about the local history of winemaking which dates back over 300 years, when the Rigal family first developed the wine estate. Be sure to stock up at the cooperative wine cellar and take a ride through the beautiful vineyards, if you have bikes.

Fresque Chamizo, Douelle

DOUELLE

Douelle has played an important role in the history of the River Lot since the Middle Ages, and was once the largest port for shipping traffic. For many years, wine barrels were manufactured here to be shipped to Bordeaux, while the current Port dates back to the 19th century. Douelle itself was famous for its skilled boatmen and a Gabarra (barge) is hung in the local church, reminding the locals of the local history. Upstream of the attractive suspension bridge, you can't miss the Europe's largest mural painting, painted by Chamizo and representing the history of Cahors wine. The oldest house in Douelle is now a restaurant: L'Auberge du Vieux Douelle, better known by the name, Chez Malique, famed for its traditional cuisine including calf's head. For dessert, try the traditional sweet tarts, 'pastis', made with very fine pastry, on sale at the Les Pastis d'Elise patisserie. If wine's more your thing, several winegrowers here will be happy to help you discover their wine, produced in the surrounding vineyards, such as Domaine Marcilhac which has been owned by the same family for many generations. If you fancy an adrenaline rush, you can take in the glorious countryside from above with the Lot School of Paragliding (+33 664 191 323).

MERCUÈS

Moored on the right bank upstream of the lock. From the pontoon you can reach the village centre by an path (2km – marked with arrows). You can also try your hand at water sports at the Pradines Ski Nautique (+33 6 76 54 40 87) which offers various activities for all ages such as water-skiing, wakeboarding, or being pulled along on an inflatable! CAHORS

Surrounded by steep hills, Cahors is sure to be one of the highlights of your cruise. A city of art and history, Cahors is also famous for its vineyards and gastronomy, particularly truffles and foie gras. The winding alleyways of the historic centre will take you to the magnificent St. Étienne cathedral, a UNESCO World Heritage site and a stop on the famous Santiago de Compostela pilgrimage. Pause to admire its sculpted door, and the many frescoes which have been uncovered over the years.

Pont Valentré, Cahors

Pont Valentré, Cahors

The Chartreux Fountain, also known as "the spring of the gods", has been supplying the city with drinking water for centuries. All that remains of the Palace Jean XXII, built for Pope John XXII, is its 32m square tower. Walk to the other side of town to visit the UNESCO listed Valentré Bridge, or join a guided tour organised by the Tourist Office to learn more about its history. Of course, the best view is from the river as you arrive into town. Have fun following the 'Jardins Secrets' route; there are around thirty gardens to explore, or take the small train which departs from the Valentré Bridge. For a stunning view of the river loop, the roofs of the historic town and the Lot Valley, climb to the top of Mount St. Cyr – on a clear day, you can see the castle of Mercuès in the distance.

LAROQUE-DES-ARCS

Laroque-des-Arcs has been inhabited since the Roman era, when it was founded in the 12th century to protect the "arcs" (arches) carrying water from the valley to the thermal baths of Cahors. Traces of this Roman aqueduct are still visible at Pech de Clary (right bank), as well as the ruins of the toll tower, from which the local lords charged the river users. Embedded into the limestone walls, all along the Lot Valley, are the "Chateaux des Anglais", a series of 11th century fortifications built to protect the townspeople in case of attack. One such example is overlooked by the charming St. Roch chapel, built under the overhanging rock.

Amenities: Grocery store

Savanac is a picturesque, leafy town. Moor here for no other reason than to drink in the beautiful sights and views wherever you look.

ARCAMBAL

Arcambal is a typically quaint town where you'll discover many historic sites such as the fortified ruins (now covered by vegetation) the old Bouquet Castle and the impressive church Saint-Antoine, built in the 15th century.

Vers

VERS

Vers is a small village located at the intersection of the River Lot with the Vers stream, punctuated by small waterfalls and a string of mills. Admire the grey-white limestone cliffs tinted with ochre, which give extraordinary colours at sunrise and sunset. The art gallery near the port displays oil and pastel paintings depicting scenes of the Lot Valley. 1km from Vers, you'll find the Delfour biscuit factory and museum. Pick up some treats at the shop or enjoy a pit-stop at the tea room. A 15-minute walk to the west of Vers, visit Velles Chapel where sailors once stopped to pray to the Virgin, asking her to protect them during their perilous expedition. Downstream of Vers, the remains of a Roman aqueduct, dating from 40AD and which carried drinking water to Cahors, can be seen from your boat. Another example of the region's "Chateaux des Anglais" (see Laroque-des-Arcs) is located in the western cliffs, visible from the town car park. It has the distinction of having a sheltered cave that once allowed villagers to hide in case of enemy invasion. Les Dryades (+33 5 65 31 44 50 – crepinfamille@yahoo.fr) offers hot air balloon rides/ flights (less than 4km away for Vers moorings). Flights are made either in the morning just after sunrise or in the late afternoon.

The towpath around Ganil Lock has been carved into the steep limestone cliffs by hand, to allow boats which were once pulled long by horses, to travel along this stretch. A short distance from Bouziès, also carved into the rock, is a 30 metres 'fresco' of impressive sculptures by the artist Daniel Monnier – well worth a walk from the town. Kalapca Loisirs offers a range of outdoor activities: canyoning, caving, rock climbing, canoeing and kayaking (+33 56 52 42 101 - for ages 6 years plus).

Recommended restaurant: Les Falaises, a short walk from the pontoons

Cabrerets

CABRERETS

A 6km cycle ride north of Bouziès is the village of Cabreret which is dominated by a medieval fortress, although its centrepiece is the imposing Château de Cabrerets. Unfortunately it is closed to the public for most of the year, but worth a visit to see the exterior. Near the village, be sure to visit the impressive Pech-Merle caves, discovered by two young boys in 1922 and the site of ancient drawings of prehistoric woolly mammoths, horses and reindeer, many of which date back to 25,000 BC. The stalagmites and other cave formations are also quite beautiful. (Booking recommended +33 565 312 705). To reach the caves, take the pedestrian path which starts behind the village church.

Recommended restaurant: Restaurant des Grottes, backing onto the River Célé

Amenities: Supermarket, bakery and restaurants

ST. CIRQ-LAPOPIE

Perched on a cliff 100m above the River Lot, Saint-Cirq Lapopie is one of the main stops on your holiday, and is deservedly classified as one of the most beautiful villages in France. It derives its name from one of the families that founded it, the Lapopie, who erected the first fortress here. With 13 listed buildings to choose from, the medieval village has conserved its heritage and retained an irresistible charm. Below the ruins of the fortress, the village includes many beautiful old houses built from stone or wood between the 13th and 16th centuries, characterised by their flat tile roofs. In its flower-lined streets you'll discover many arts and craftsmen, from skinnners and potters to wood turners, who produce a variety of items. To get there from the river, there are two footpaths: the first, in front of St. Cirq lock and the other, further downstream. These two paths avoid the traffic on the road D40, but the slope is steep.

Larnagol

CAUTION

The Lot is generally a placid river with a light current. However, the water level can change rapidly. Pay attention to the level markers at locks and along the river. If the water levels rise, find a safe mooring (preferably a floating pontoon that will rise with the water level) and keep an eye on your lines. If you have any questions about the navigation conditions during your cruise, don't hesitate to call the base.

LOCKS

All of the locks on the River Lot are manual and user-operated, and can be used every day from 30 minutes before sunrise to 30 minutes after sunset. Set a crew member ashore (two if possible), before the lock so they can turn the cranks which operate the gates and sluices. A crew member should always be ready to close the sluices in case of emergencies. Please refer to the onboard Boat and Navigation Manual for more information about how to operate and pass through locks.

MOORING

Overnight mooring is only allowed in dedicated marinas. Please refer to your waterways map for exact locations. Most towns and villages have mooring spaces to tie up to and moorings are usually free. Access to shore-power facilities is severely restricted. Never moor at waiting pontoons on either side of a lock (unless you are waiting to use the lock).

WATER

You will need to fill up your water tank every two days. Water points are available at our Le Boat base in Douelle for free, as well as some ports/marinas along the river – please check your waterways map to find out where.

PUMPING OUT WASTE WATER

You may need to pump out your waste tanks at least once during the course of a week, especially if your boat is filled to maximum occupancy. We advise you to plan where to pump out by checking your onboard waterways map to find out which marinas offer this service - a charge will apply.
